

Our Vision

The Management of PT. Toba Pulp Lestari, Tbk believes that the implementation of good management of forest with regard to timber utilisation, silvicultural techniques, environmental stewardship and social responsibility, maintains the value of forest as a source of timber and other forest products, whilst maintaining the biodiversity functions, conservation of soil, water, and catchment areas as well as other ecosystem functions. We believe that the good management of forest land for today or the future through the increased productivity and the carrying capacity of increasing community needs for forest products help to maintain biodiversity, support global warming reduction programmes and provide benefits to both employees, consumers, shareholders, communities around the forest and other stakeholders.
